

JENNY BRIZARD

This Québécoise of Haitian origin was formed at the base in Ballet, Jazz, Tap, Contemporary Dance, and Dance African.

In 1999, Jenny chose to integrate theater, dance and singing training at Randolph Academy for the Performing Arts in Toronto.

Afterwards, she continued her journey alongside famous choreographers in musical comedy and Hip Hop including Richard Pierlon (NYC), Lenon Peachlum (LA), Andy Blankenbuehler (NYC).

She continues her journey by integrating the company of Ghislaine Dote in 2005, and performs in several Festivals: Montréal en Lumières, Vue sur la Relève, Toronto International Dance Festival ... (etc).

In December 2005, she plays in the play "Shifting Grounds" from the company "Black Theater Workshop".

She also participates in variety shows: Juste pour Rire (2006), Radio Canada (2005), Cirque du Soleil (2006-2008).

Currently, Jenny continues to improve in many disciplines, and is working for a young and talented choreographer named Gibson Muriva, for which she will perform in September 2009
